

STONY CREEK FARMSTEAD • ORGANIC VEGETABLES COMMUNITY SUPPORTED AGRICULTURE

(We) GROW (the food) • (You) EAT (the organic veggies) • (All) CONNECT (to celebrate!) •

A SHARE OF OUR FARM:

We are focused on providing familiar vegetables & herbs in abundance and unusual varieties occasionally. If there's anything you would like to try or are curious about, don't hesitate to let us know!

Food shares begin in late spring with peas, lettuce, broccoli, spinach, and other cool weather vegetables. As summer kicks in, we will add potatoes, beans, cucumbers, and more to your share. At the peak of the garden season, shares will be loaded with tomatoes, corn, squash, peppers, and greens! Edible flowers, unusual vegetables, and fresh herbs will be included as they ripen throughout the season.

Recipes and samples will be provided each week at pick up. We encourage members to share their favorite recipes with the group.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Members can pick up their vegetable share each week at one of two locations:
Thursday 3-6pm at the Farm or Sunday 10 am - noon at the Franklin Farmer's Market

Each share will include 5-7 seasonal organic vegetables and herbs harvested from the farm the same day.

WHAT ABOUT COMMUNITY?

We will be having a Pot Luck once a month, in an effort to celebrate food, families, and friends. All member families are welcome and we encourage you to bring a friend, along with a dish to pass. Potluck celebrations will include, but are not limited to, a farm tour, great food, music, dancing, a bonfire.

WHAT IS COMMUNITY SUPPORTED AGRICULTURE?

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) is a partnership between growers and eaters. The grower is provided a market through prepaid sales which help finance the farm's operations. In return, the eater is provided with a variety of the freshest, local, organic produce, direct from farm to table! Joining a CSA is a great way to have a healthy, delicious diet & support your local farmers and economy.
